

UNIFORMITY CHIEF DEMAND ON ROADS

Similar Wages and Rules of Employment Are Asked by Engineers and Firemen.

THEIR BRIEF IS FILED

They Point to Conditions in Other Industries to Support Claims.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
New York, April 12.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers today filed a brief with the Board of Arbitration that is holding executive session behind closed doors at the Waldorf-Astoria to settle the differences between the engineers and the fifty-two Eastern railroads. The brief sets forth fully the demands of the men, and restates the arguments advanced in their behalf.

The demands for uniform wages and uniform rules of employment on all the roads participating in the arbitration, is the most important question to be decided by the board. The firemen and engineers contend that such uniform scales are necessary for comparison in future arbitrations, and cite the railroad reports when they were unable to furnish data on the increase in wages on any one road in the past to prove this contention.

"Uniformity in rates and rules is necessary and desirable in other industries, as evidenced by the peace, contentment and quiet that prevail in the mining industry," the brief states, "where uniform rates and rules are in effect in the same competitive district, as compared with the instability of prices, the discriminations and abuses, and the continual unrest that prevails where uniformity does not prevail."

"The industrial advantages," continues the brief, "are apparent in the printing and building trades. Uniformity in rates is a privilege of the railroad, guaranteed by Federal legislation, thus eliminating discrimination and favoritism, and by the regulations promulgated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, placing all railroads on an equality under the law."

This uniformity should not be influenced by the relative wealth of the roads, the firemen contend, because in no other trade does the wealth of the employer fix the wage of the employee, and the less prosperous railroad profits as greatly by the labors of the firemen and engineers as does the wealthiest, and the productive efficiency of the firemen is just as great on one road as on another.

Statistics refuting the claims of the managers that the railroads are not financially in position to grant the wage increase demanded form a large proportion of the brief. It quotes from the Interstate Commerce Commission to show that the fifty-two representatives of Eastern railroads carried 62.5 per cent more freight in 1912 than they did in 1902, and in the same period passenger traffic increased by 49.16 per cent.

Concluding, the brief says: "If the stocks and bonds of a railroad company have been improperly issued for the purpose of granting bonuses to stockholders, underwriters or promoters or acquiring the bonds and stock of other transportation and industrial corporations at inflated values, and nothing has been added to the earning capacity of the railroad, the necessity for paying dividends upon such stocks or interest on such bonds cannot be urged as a reason against the grant of increased wages to firemen."

The document is signed by W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood. Judge Chambers, chairman of the Board of Arbitration, said today that it would surely take more than seven more days to arrive at the award.

NOMINATIONS MADE

Dudley Field Malone Named as Assistant to Bryan.
Washington, April 12.—Among the nominations sent to the Senate today by President Wilson were:
To be Third Assistant Secretary of

"Getting the hang of it"—is the only secret of doing things right.

The style of a coat depends on "the hang of it," and that's where expert designing shows in clothes. Our coats are cut differently in each size to drape properly. No matter what your build, the clothes we fit you with won't fall away from your figure.

Complete showing of Spring Suits, Raincoats and Overcoats; a size and style for every build; a pattern, fabric and coloring for every taste, and at prices that show real value.

Everything else men wear as well as boys. Coats and Middies for girls. Raincoats for women.

O. H. Berry & Co.

State, Dudley Field Malone, of New York.

To be counselor for the State Department, John Bassett Moore, of New York.

To be collector of customs for the district of Beaufort, S. C., Franklin P. Colcock.

In connection with the nomination of Dudley Field Malone to be Third Assistant Secretary of State, President Wilson let it be known that he was very much pleased that Mr. Malone had, at his solicitation and that of Secretary Bryan, agreed to accept the post.

President Wilson today nominated the following Virginians to be second lieutenants of infantry in the army: R. H. Barrett, H. B. Keen and O. A. Baldinger.

He was admitted to the bar. He served in the Missouri Legislature and originated many of the railroad and banking laws of the State. Mr. Henderson was a Buchanan presidential elector, a delegate to the national convention of 1860, and a member of the Missouri convention to determine the question of secession. Later he organized a brigade of Union State troops and was appointed a brigadier-general of militia.

When Trusten Poll was expelled from the United States Senate, Mr. Henderson was appointed to succeed him, and in 1862 was elected to the Senate, serving until 1869, when he resumed law practice in St. Louis. He received the Republican nomination for Governor in 1872.

President Grant in 1875 appointed Mr. Henderson special United States attorney to prosecute the "whiskey ring" in St. Louis. He was chairman of the Republican National Convention, which nominated James G. Blaine at Chicago, in 1884.

Since 1890 Mr. Henderson had resided in Washington.

Mr. Henderson was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He was a member of the Missouri Bar, and was admitted to the bar in 1860.

HOPE GROWS WA, AND POPE'S DEATH IS EXPECTED SOON

(Continued From First Page)

nal Merry Del Val, telling him of the sudden change for the worse. The cardinal was at that moment receiving a delegation of pilgrims. Upon hearing of the Pope's relapse Cardinal Merry Del Val called on the pilgrims to pray for the Pope's recovery. This was done in the midst of the reception.

Dr. Amiel is in attendance upon the Pope to-night, while Professor Marchiafava is within easy call, and Maria and Anna Sarto, the Pope's sisters, are prepared to hasten to his bedside on a moment's notice.

The Swiss Guard about the Vatican has been doubled, and admittance to the grounds is denied to all except those who are closely connected with the church.

From a high authority in Rome it was learned to-night that the feeling among the prelates and friends of the Pope is that if he fails to recover from the present relapse, he will be regarded as chiefly responsible for his own death. His Holiness has always had a high conception of duty, and he has never allowed his physical condition to prevent him from attending to his many duties. During the past few days the Holy Father has worried greatly over not being able to receive the many pilgrims who are now in Rome, and especially the Venetian delegation.

The Bishop of Treviso declared to-night that the blame for the second relapse rested with Monsignors Bressan and Descomi, for allowing the Pope to have his way in regard to seeing the three Venetian bishops yesterday afternoon. The bishop declared if the Pope's sisters had been allowed to have their way, the Pope would not have been held. His Holiness, during the absence of Professor Marchiafava, prevailed upon Mgr. Bressan and the three bishops, and when they arrived he explained to Monsignor Descomi to allow them to enter the bedchamber.

The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The suddenness of this relapse has cast a gloom over the pilgrims here. This morning a large delegation of them met the Pope's sisters, who spoke of the Holy Father's improved condition, saying that he was over the evidence of being on the road to recovery.

Professor Marchiafava had announced that he would discontinue his regular visits to the Pontiff on Sunday, and had already ceased to issue a bulletin. The Pope was considered to be almost convalescent.

Disregards Orders.
The Pope again disregarded the orders of his physicians when he insisted upon sitting up in his armchair this morning while all of the windows in the chamber were open. The bright sunlight was pouring into the room, but there was a slight chill in the air, and the Pope's condition was not improved. His Holiness appeared in excellent spirits this morning, and as he sat gazing out of his window over the Vatican gardens, he played with a bunch of violets his niece Glidia had brought him.

The Secret of Success

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost immediately attracts the attention of the public, and like the good old-fashioned remedy that is recommended by those who have been cured to those who are in need of it.

In an interview on the subject a prominent local druggist says: "Take for example, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows immediate results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

The success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

A free trial bottle will be sent by mail, absolutely free, to anyone who will send a letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., and mention this paper. Regular size bottles sold at all druggists—50c and $1.00.—Advertisement.

essor Marchiafava, in explaining why bulletins had not been issued, said they were published only in cases of great gravity. The bulletin was as follows:

"On April 7 the Pope fell ill with a relapse of influenza with symptoms of tracheal bronchitis. The fever subsided three days ago, but returned today, with an aggravation of the catarrhal symptoms. There are no indications to cause alarm."

The suddenness of the relapse has caused the deepest apprehension. The Pope this morning received Bishop Longhini, saying that he could not allow "the bishop of my diocese" to leave Rome without seeing him. The Pope was most affable and gave to the bishop a pectoral cross with white stones set in gold.

Bishop Longhini left the room radiant. He thought the Pope appeared emaciated and prostrated, but that he was cheerful and hopeful. He gathered the impression that a man with such mental vitality would live long. His delight was so great that he and the sisters of the Pope lunched together in high good humor, wishing to celebrate the recovery of the Pontiff.

They spent the greater part of the afternoon together, but were awakened from their dream by the sad news of the Pope's relapse. The Pontiff suffered from a high fever which registered 103 degrees. It gradually decreased to 99, but rose again and at midnight was reported to be 102.

About the time the relapse occurred nearly 1,000 pilgrims from the diocese of Treviso, led by their bishop, were received by the papal secretary of state. Bishop Longhini, in presenting the pilgrims, said they were grieved that their most ardent desire and the chief object of their pilgrimage—to see the holy father—was impossible.

Although the general public was shocked to hear that Pope Pius had suffered another relapse, it cannot be said that this turn for the worse caused much surprise as His Holiness was allowed too soon to do things which would have tried the constitution of a much younger man.

It must be remembered that the octogenarian Pope, after having been ill all last month, relapsed on Monday with the most grave symptoms. It was then said that only a miracle would save him.

The miracle evidently occurred, as two days later the fever stopped, all traces of the condition of albuminuria, which usually accompanies influenza, vanished, and other dangerous symptoms disappeared.

Physician Not Deceived.
Notwithstanding this, Professor Marchiafava, the Pope's chief physician, was not deceived. He constantly repeated to the Vatican attendants that the Holy Father could only live by following the strictest regimen, taking only food of temperance, and constant rest. Not adhering to the physician's advice, the Pontiff was allowed to rise from his bed, and even to leave the bedroom, thus exposing himself to the change of temperature.

Besides this, he received four bishops this morning.

Pope Pius also had planned to receive at least one delegation of pilgrims from the diocese of Treviso, which included those from Riez, his birthplace.

Suddenly this afternoon His Holiness was seized with chills. He was immediately put to bed, while his attendants made every effort to counteract the shivering.

Dr. Andrea Amiel hastily called Professor Marchiafava, who remained in consultation at the bedside for an hour. The physician examined the Pope thoroughly, finding symptoms that indicated congestion and inflammation of the bronchial tubes, which were acute.

Professor Marchiafava then repeated in a more energetic manner the absolute necessity of the Pope being kept completely quiet, even without speaking. He showed the Pope out that just before he arrived, the Pope, contrary to the doctors' wishes, was taking great interest in the celebration of the jubilee of Emperor Constantine on Sunday in the Church of St. John Lateran, where Cardinal Vincenzo Vannetti will pontificate as papal legate.

When Professor Marchiafava left he said that he was convinced that Cardinal Merry del Val, plainly stating that he would not take upon himself the responsibility for the treatment of the Pope unless he was certain that his orders would be obeyed.

The doctor's principal request was that the patient should abstain from any physical or mental exertion, not only for a few days, but for a long period.

OBITUARY
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Richmond, Va., April 12.—Dorilas Driver, seventy-four years old, a retired farmer and a prominent resident of the county, died yesterday at Mt. Vernon. He was a member of the Methodist Church. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Maggie Mason, and two children.

William H. Quinn.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., April 12.—William H. Quinn, formerly a resident of Lynchburg, but a native of Appomattox County, died Wednesday at Lockhart, Texas, where he was engaged in the drug business. His body will be brought here for burial.

A. S. Burks.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., April 12.—A. S. Burks, a member of a prominent Bedford County family, died yesterday afternoon at his home near Charlottesville, where he was engaged in the drug business. He was a brother of the late Judge E. C. Burks of the Virginia Court of Appeals.

IN MEMORIAM
EACHO.—In loving remembrance of our dear father, THORNTON A. EACHO, who departed this life five years ago to-day, April 13, 1908.

Hour by hour we saw him fade
And hourly saw his spirit glide
Yet in our hearts we often prayed
That he may longer stay.

We did not want to part with him,
But God knew what was best.
But some day I hope to meet him
In that sweet land of rest.

BY WILLIE EACHO.

DOUGHTY.—In loving memory of my mother, IRENE B. DOUGHTY, who died July 17, 1912, and of my brother, WILLIAM H. DOUGHTY, who died one year ago, April 12, 1912; ASHTON, October 15, 1911.

Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep.

FLORENCE.

LACY.—In loving remembrance of our dear father, LONNIE LACY, who died one year ago to-day.

DEATHS
PERKINS.—Died, at the residence of his mother, Mrs. M. Perkins, 24 South Belvidere Street, April 11, 1913, at 4:30 A. M. JESSE H. PERKINS, aged eight years. He leaves two sons and two daughters—J. L. Perkins, Charlotte, N. C.; G. B. Lacy, and Mrs. C. A. Pulling of this city, and seventeen grandchildren to mourn their loss.

Funeral from the First Baptist Church THIS (Sunday) AFTERNOON at 3 o'clock. Interment in Shockoe Hill Cemetery. Friends and acquaintances invited to attend.

SCHMIDT.—Died, Saturday, April 12, at 6:30 A. M., at his residence, 1533 Floyd Avenue. MRS. BARBARA KATZ SCHMIDT, in the seventy-fifth year of her age.

Funeral from the above residence MONDAY, April 14, at 3:30 P. M.

SALE.—Died, April 11, 1913, at "The Oaks," Rockingham County, Va., J. IRVING SALE, in the eighty-first year of his age. He is survived by his widow and one son, Mrs. Jas. Burks, of King and Queen counties, Va.

Burial services at the grave in Hollywood at 10:30 A. M. TO-DAY.

LYNE.—Died, April 12, at 9:15 P. M., St. Francis Hospital, Newport News, Va. CHAMLING W. LYNE, He leaves a wife and five children; also three brothers and one sister.

Funeral notice later.

HANN.—Died, Saturday, April 12, at 4:25 A. M., at the home of his son, George D. Hann, at the City Nursery, JOHN C. HANN, in the sixty-ninth year of his age.

Funeral from the residence SUNDAY, April 13, at 4:30 P. M. Friends and acquaintances respectfully invited to attend.

ROBINSON.—Died, suddenly, at his home, 2023 Beverly Street, at 11 P. M., April 12, MR. JAMES L. ROBINSON.

Funeral notice later.

Too Late for Classification
LOST, TWO "HANDBAGS," ONE "TAN" and one "black" handbag, on main automobile road between Barboursville and Williamsburg. Return or notify C. W. SHIELDS, Jefferson Hotel or Colonial Inn, Williamsburg. Liberal reward.

MINIATURE ALMANAC.
April 12, 1913.
Sun rises 5:39
Sun sets 6:42
Morning 10:03
Evening 10:18

CHARGE DISMISSED

Man Accused of Threatening Saloon-keeper Freed in Police Court.
The charge against S. P. Pedigo of threatening to accuse K. B. Savage, a saloon-keeper, of the crime of selling liquor to his son, a minor, in an effort to extort $150, was dismissed yesterday morning in Police Court.

Attorney H. M. Smith, Jr., counsel for Savage, and G. K. Pollock, representing Pedigo, made it clear to Justice Crutcher that there was no intent on Pedigo's part at blackmail. Mr. Smith said that in some States it was provided by law that a parent or guardian had the right to sue any person for selling intoxicating spirits to a child, and he explained that Pedigo thought he was acting within his rights.

JOHN POWELL AT OXFORD.
Oxford, N. C., April 12.—John Powell, of Richmond, was here last night in the auditorium of the graded school to a large and delighted audience. A concert ever given in Oxford has afforded such genuine pleasure. Mr. Powell came for the benefit of the Woman's Civic Club, and although there was a heavy shower of rain, the financial results were satisfactory.

Relapse of Pope Follows Disregard of Physician's Orders.
[By Associated Press.]
Rome, April 12.—Pope Pius X has suffered a serious relapse. His condition to-night was such as to arouse the gravest fear. He showed great weakness, and his fever rose to 103 degrees. The second relapse followed a disregard of the